Jan 22 - Feb 13 A Play "Kataki" (The Enemy), War from the Pacific Brought to the Hollywood Stage

War is coming. Starting Jan. 22, thru Feb. 13, Hollywood will be taken back into the pacific front of World War II when Kataki opens at the McCadden Theatre located at 1157 N McCadden Pl. in Hollywood's Theatre Row every Friday and Saturday 8:00 pm to 9:30 pm and Sunday 2:00 pm to 3:30 pm.

One American soldier and one Japanese soldier will be stranded together on an island in the Pacific with nothing but a solitary battle knife separating them.

The Los Angeles stage will for the first time witness the English and Japanese languages sharing the same stage when Shimon Wincelberg's Kataki is remade since its original 1959 Broadway debut.

Kataki tells the story of an American soldier, who regains consciousness after crash landing on a deserted island somewhere in the Pacific Ocean during the war. He awakens to find himself in the hands of a Japanese Imperial soldier, his enemy combatant.

With their respective languages of little use and one bayonet between them serving as judge, jury, and executioner, two soldiers must find ways communicate and coexist. The only possible alternative would be the extermination of either one of them.

This incredibly unique production brings together the creative team comprised of Director Peter Haskell and the Prince Livingston Players which includes Stars/Producers Fernando Aldaz and Yas Takahashi all of which come from a strong foundation and belief in truthful and riveting acting that captures the real essence of human nature.

A graduate from Harvard University, Haskell's directorial approach is heavily influenced by his long time mentor Peter Kass, who was a member of the Original Group Theatre, founded on the revolutionary acting approach that gradually swept the United States in the 30s and 40s that eventually came to be known as 'Method' acting.

Haskell also brings to the table his United States armed forces expertise having served in the 11th Airborne Division from May 1954 thru April 1956. Haskell's creative approach to Kataki is also influenced by his experience of three uncles who served the armed forces during the Second World War.

Aldaz, who plays Alvin, brings to the table his extensive training having studied at the Circle in the Square Theatre School on Broadway and the Stella Adler Academy of Acting in Los Angeles.

Takahashi who plays Kimura, completes this versed creative triad, having been born in Osaka, Japan and a member of Los Angeles's only Japanese theatre company, "Arigato-Kai," Takahashi also received his acting foundation from the Stella Adler Academy of Acting of Los Angeles.

Audiences will get an authentic taste of the war's pacific front conflict when this creative teams' vision hits the stage at the end of January. Tickets can be bought online at the Kataki official webpage, www.kataki2010.com or at the door of the McCadden before show times. Additional information is available at Kataki's official Facebook page.

Hollywood Chinese: The Arthur Dong Collection Exhibition / October 23, 2009 – May 31, 2010

Hollywood Chinese: The Arthur Dong Documentary Collection presents selections from over 800 pieces of movie memorabilia that was collected during the ten-year research for Arthur Dong's groundbreaking film, Hollywood Chinese. Through posters, lobby cards, film stills, and scripts and documents dating from 1912, visitors journey into a vivid and graphic study of how Chinese have been imagined in the movies, reflecting the social and cultural history of the Chinese in America during the last century.

In addition to iconic depictions evidenced by material from films such as The Good Earth, The Vengeance of Fu Manchu, Charlie Chan in Honolulu, and Flower Drum Song, highlights of the collection include the surviving archive of pioneer Chinese American filmmaker James B. Leong, who produced the 1921 film, Lotus Blossom, in Los Angeles.

Filmmaker Arthur Dong is the Guest Curator for this exhibition.

The exhibit will showcase Sogetsu Ikebana as a contemporary, formative art form, infinite in its possibilities. Arrangements will range from minimal, graceful floral arrangements to large, living sculptures which use plant materials in dazzling and powerful ways. The results can be as extreme as nature itself, peaceful and calm or wild and spectacular.

The Japanese Art of Ikebana is a highly refined and respected art form with over five centuries of history and development. The Sogetsu School of Ikebana, Japan's most progressive avant-garde school, embraces today's modern aesthetic while at the same time respecting and reflecting the Japanese heightened sensitivity to the beauty of nature.

teacher can take as long as ten years. Students in the LA area today may take classes that are offered at local colleges or community centers.

The sixty members of the Sogetsu San Fernando Branch, representing both students and teachers, are honored to share this exciting art form in Southern California. The Branch, under the direction of Camille Van Ast of Newbury Park, is associated with the Sogetsu Teachers Association of Japan.

History: Groundbreaking of Manzanar barracks set for Feb 13

INDEPENDENCE, California - The National Park Service, Friends of Manzanar, and Manzanar History Association invite the public to attend a barracks groundbreaking event at 1:00 p.m., Saturday, February 13, 2010.

According to Superintendent Les Inafuku, "All Americans had to adapt during World War II, including Japanese Americans confined at Manzanar. Future visitors to Block 14 can learn how Japanese Americans lived at Manzanar, and improved their living situations. Our elders can still inspire us to improve our lives and help shape our great nation."

In operation from 1942-45, Manzanar War Relocation Center confined more than 10,000 Japanese Americans in 36 blocks. Each block included 14 barracks buildings, a mess hall, a recreation building, latrines, and laundry and ironing rooms.

After the war, the buildings were sold for scrap lumber or relocated.

In 1997, in consultation with the Manzanar Advisory Commission, former internees, historians, and others, the National Park Service approved the development of Block 14 as a "demonstration block" to interpret daily life in the camp.

In fiscal years 2009-10, Congress approved funding, proposed by California Senator Diane Feinstein, for reconstructing Barracks 1 and 8 on Block 14.

Barracks 1 will appear as it would have when Japanese Americans first arrived at Manzanar in 1942.

Barracks 8 will be reconstructed to represent barracks life in 1945.

A restored World War II mess hall moved to the site from Bishop Airport in 2002 will be open to visitors later this year.

Erick Ammon, Inc., of Anderson, California, will reconstruct the barracks.

Friends of Manzanar, a non-profit partner of the National Park Service, continues to raise funds to support the development and interpretation of Block 14.

The groundbreaking event begins at 1:00 p.m.

Afterwards, Manzanar History Association will provide light refreshments in the mess hall.

Later that day, the National Park Service invites former internees to gather informally with visitors in the Interpretive Center to share their memories and experiences.

The events are free and open to the public.

Manzanar National Historic Site is located along U.S. Highway 395, six miles south of Independence, California and nine miles north of Lone Pine.

Feb 27-28 Chinatown Firecracker 5/10K Feb 28

The 10K course is a challenging run through the hills of Elysian Park. From N. Broadway, the course winds up into the park to its highest elevation (see elevation map). The course winds through tree-lined rolling hills with the summit of Angels Point providing spectacular 180 degrees of the city.

The early morning vistas of downtown Los Angeles to the south and neighborhoods to the north from the various vantage points in Elysian Park are quite breathtaking and not commonly seen, even by longtime Angelenos.

Whatever your competitive level, enjoy the scenery and the camaraderie of fellow runners.

There is no vehicular traffic to contend with. Mile markers indicate where you are. Split times are called out by supportive course workers.

5K and 10K Starting times will stagger to accommodate all entrants.

Entry fee includes a complimentary "Carbo-Load" meal on Saturday.

Note: Course descriptions and images may change without notice due to construction, accessibility and other factors beyond our control.

The 5K run/walk is an up and back loop that takes participants to Dodger Stadium. The course begins on North Broadway for approximately 1/3 mile, then turns left onto Bishops Road. An immediate right turn at Stadium Way takes you over the 110 freeway toward Dodger Stadium for about a 1 mile uphill climb. This distance includes a right at Lookout Dr., then onto Lilac Terrace which leads again onto Stadium Way. A U-turn a little past Elysian Park Ave. returns you to Stadium Way directly to Bishops Road, then onto North Broadway toward the finish line. There is one water station on the course.

5K and 10K Starting times will stagger to accommodate all entrants.

Entry fee includes a complimentary "Carbo-Load" meal on Saturday.

Feb 27

20+ Mile Ride

Similar to the route from the 2009 inaugural event, this is a loop from Chinatown to Griffith Park and back. This year, a portion of this ride uses the L.A. River bike path. Fully supported with a refreshment stop near half distance in Griffith Park. Since this ride is mainly on city streets, young riders are not encouraged to participate. Return to Chinatown for post-event refreshments, a Carbo-Load meal and Nite n' Day entertainment. This ride is suggested for beginner to intermediate riders. Mostly flat with a few rolling hills.

42+ Mile Ride

A ride to provide separation between you and other riders. This ride has a mixture of flats and challenging hills with an emphasis on the latter. After a relatively sedate ride into Griffith Park, you'll encounter the first climb in the hills toward Travel Town. After a brief stop for refreshments in the park, it's onto a rather flat ride through Glendale (Glenoaks Blvd.) to Chevy Chase Dr. Then prepare for a 4 mile climb to the top of Linda Vista for another rest area. Another short climb on Figueroa St. leads you downward toward the Rose Bowl in Pasadena via the lush neighborhoods near Descanso Gardens. A final rest stop at the Rose Bowl begins the mostly downhill finish through the streets of South Pasadena and neighborhoods north of Chinatown via the Arroyo Seco Bike Path. Be prepared for cool weather, quiet streets, scenic vistas and out of the seat climbing. Ride level: Intermediate to advanced. Refer to the enclosed map and elevation chart. If this were a spicy barbecued chicken dish, it would be an 8 on a scale of 1-10.

The Los Angeles Firecracker Run Committee, Inc. (LACFRC, Inc.) is a community based-based, 501.3(c)(3) non-profit organization with a non-salaried group of volunteers who donate their time and energies to organize and stage an annual run/walk event and to promote activities beneficial to the Los Angeles Chinatown community.

The "Firecracker Run" is recognized as one of the best organized events in the running community. For 31 years, the event remains participant-oriented; to make his/her participation as memorable and enjoyable as possible.

Art Exhibit - January 7 - 29, 2010

Alhambra City Hall

The annual exhibit, with a new theme each year, serves as an official kick-off for the New Year celebration with a ribbon-cutting ceremony. The free exhibit has been a pleasing experience for the visitors who come to the city hall and acts as a learning experience for students in the surrounding areas by allowing them to experience the Chinese culture.

Angel Island's history offers lessons on immigration policy

The immigrant station's past underscores America's contradictory approach to immigration: The U.S. welcomes the 'huddled masses yearning to be free' even as it unfairly detains and departs newcomers.
